Excerpt: . . . conduct surveys. To assist in continuing education, CMS develops a limited number of courses for ongoing training and provides other training materials. Supervisory Reviews: States may design a supervisory review process for deficiencies cited during surveys, although CMS does not require them to do so. In July 2003, we recommended that CMS require states to have a minimum quality-assurance process that includes a review of a sample of survey reports below the level of actual harm to assess the appropriateness of scope and severity levels cited and help reduce 24 CMS did not instances of understated quality-of-care problems. 25 implement this recommendation. State Agency Practices and Policies: State survey agencies practices, including those on citing deficiencies and addressing pressure from the industry or others, are largely left to the discretion of state survey agencies. In the past, we reported that in one state, CMS officials had 26 If a state agency fails to found surveyors were not citing all deficiencies. cite all deficiencies associated with noncompliance, nursing home deficiencies are understated on the...
